Walk of Heroes: Veterans War Memorial

“Freedom is not Free!”

On May 16th at 4:30 p.m. Evans Companies will honor its employees who are veterans at the Walk of Heroes/ Veterans War Memorial in Conyers, Georgia. We encourage ALL employees to attend. More details will follow. During this special ceremony, Evans will present 11 personalized pavers dedicated to each employee who served in our country's armed services. We are thankful for their service to our county and encourage other businesses in our community to honor their workforce who are veterans by supporting the Walk of Heroes/Veterans War Memorial.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY...

“Whoever pursues righteousness and kindness will find life, righteousness and honor.”

-Proverbs 21:21

STAY ALERT!

Recently Evans' employees had to take shelter due to a tornado warning that was issued for our area. Everyone did a great job of moving into the shelters and remaining calm. "Tornado Watch" means that conditions are favorable, while a "Tornado Warning" means take action because a tornado has been sighted or located by radar. Here are some tornado safety tips provided by the National Weather Service (NOAA).

PREPARE TO TAKE SHELTER:

- Be weather-ready and check the forecast.
- Sign up for notifications at weather.com or your local TV/radio station or your community's emergency system.
- Create a communications and shelter plan with your family.
- Practice your shelter plan.
- Prepare your home.
- Help your neighbor prepare. Take CPR/first-aid training so you can help if someone gets hurt.

DURING A TORNADO:

- Stay weather-ready during a strike listening to NOAA weather radio or local news via your mobile device or radio.
- At your house: go to a basement, safe room, or interior room away from windows.
- At work or school: follow tornado drill by proceeding to shelter calmly & quickly.
- Outside: seek shelter in a sturdy building, not in sheds or storage buildings.
- In a vehicle: drive to nearest shelter, or get your head down inside your car, or seek shelter in a ditch.

AFTER A TORNADO:

- Stay informed by listening to NOAA as systems are capable of producing multiple tornados in an outbreak.
- Contact your family & loved ones.
- Assess the damage after the threat has ended. Wear 570 shoes, long-sleeved shirts and pants when walking around debris. Contact authorities if you see power lines down.
- Beware of insurance scammers.
- Help your neighbor.

"The Ballad of the Evans Mudhens"

By Greg Bowen, Summer 1993

Listen my children and you shall hear,
 How the softball season is drawing near.
 The players will slump, the fans will swear,
 And we'll all hear the phrase, "Wait till next year!"

Terry, Ricky, Jayson and Coach Greg,
 For the end of each game, they surely will beg.
 For whenever these four are together teamed
 They don't just get beat, they get totally creamed.

The other teams run the bases with ease,
 While the mud hens bats create only a breeze.
 James Menteer is another who plays with these guys,
 When attempts a catch, his hair gets in his eyes.

The Evans boys will slip and slide,
 The errors get difficult to hide.
 Joey, Billy, and even Frank Nichols,
 Contribute to the spectators' chuckles.

When Terry Brackett has the ball in his hands,
 You need to find cover behind the stands.
 When Tarzan blocks the plate and says
 "Throw me the ball,"

The umpire goes and picks it up by the wall.
 Coach Greg says "We need to hurry, If we will be winning."
 They could beat us again, In just five innings.

With Jim Turner 669 in right, the field will be covered,
 Usually with a tarp when the game is all over.
 If you come to the game to see Allen Britton,
 Just look on the bench, that's where he'll be "sitton."

Chris Allen is a base-runner of unequalled class.

They don't want to tag him 'cause he got real bad gas.

With Kerbow on third base, don't count your eggs,
 'Cause too many grounders roll thru his legs.
 At shortstop we got little Jayson Head,
 A ball hit to him we certainly dread.

Fred's on first base, Greg throws it to him.
 But for a quick throw to first, the chances are slim.

It's all over now except for the crying.
 Evans got slaughtered and I ain't lying.

We head for the parking lot
 Still feeling the shame,
 When little Greg hollers,
 "But I had a good game."
